PROGRESS.

The Life of the Land is Established in Righteousness.

HONOLULU, JULY 21, 1894.

The Custom House.

Mr. Hatch's personal organ the Star is daily attacking the opposition to Mr. Hatch's regime in a most violent manner. When the twaddler who at present writes for the Star and who evidently can change his opinions as he can his coat—when any body is found ready to pay for a change of coat—gets exhausted in his muddled and unintelligible attacks and can find no epithets or charges against the royalists he takes his refuge in calling them boodlers, opium smugglers, and the essence of corruptness. We don't consider it worth our while to take much notice of Mr. Hatch's hireling. A few years ago he was as vigorous in his attacks on the men who now are his backers and the present government and the only difference is that his articles in those days were much clearer and much better written. Not, though, because he was less muddled at that time, but because somebody else wrote them for him.

But as we say it is not worth our while to notice him. He will soon be out of the Star and ready to change his tune if Mr. W. R. Castle should fail to give him Atkinson's job as school-inspector, exactly as he did when the National Reform party refused to give him Atkinson's job as school-inspector, because it realized his many good qualifications for not getting it. When he refers to opium smuggling and corruptness, though, he is not serving Mr. Hatch and his other bosses very well. Opium smuggling has never reached such dimensions as it now does under the regime of Dole-Hatch & Co. Not a solitary seizure of opium has been made since Mr. J. B. Castle was appointed Collector-General. The officers under him are either corrupt or incompetent. Opium is quoted at a lower figure than ever before. A large lot was landed from the Australia and the market is flooded. Within the last month or six weeks two cargoes of the contraband goods have been landed and "cached" on a certain small island. And while certain officials sit openly and divide the spoils with the men on the Australia, Mr. J. B. Castle and little Hatch snort around and encourage their organ to write about the "rotten" monarchy, the opium ring and the corrupt officials.

Fancy, dear readers, what can he do under the very noses of our vigilant customs officials. Last night the warehouse of W. G. Irwin & Co., on the Oceanic Steamship Company's dock was entered by some person. The surmise is that the burglar supposed, that the money with which the dock laborers were paid to day was deposited in the office of the dock-manager. The intruder cut his way with a hatchet through one of the doors opening out to Fort street, and evidently escaped that way. In the meantime the vigilant custom officers stationed within a few yards on the wharf watching the Australia, saw nothing, heard nothing and knew nothing.

In the times which now are so severely condemned by Messrs Hatch's and Castle's official organ such things did not happen. The immaculate "republican" government repealed the opium license law, because the licensed importation of the drug was held to be immoral and pernicious. There is more of it in the country today than ever before, and it is cheaper than even in San Francisco and Victoria. It would be well for Mr. Hatch's "exclusive" editor to look occasionally at the plank in his own eye before braying about the mole detected in the eye of his neighbor.

OUR ADVERTISERS.

Some Pertinent Points for People to Ponder Over.

A late arrival came to our office a few days ago and complained because the advertising system in this town was so poorly arranged. He said that he came here with a little capital and desired to make Honolulu a permanent home for himself and his family but felt at a loss what to do and where to go for the necessities of life. He said he never saw such a poorly advertised community as Honolulu apparently is.

Well, we told the poor fellow to have patience for a few days and we decided to take a short trip to the offices and stores of our advertisers and show strangers where to go and who are enterprising men.

If our friend should wish to rent a house we advise him to call on Mr. Bruce Cartwright who as a manager of many estates has a large number of cottages for rent suitable to all conditions. If his desire is to build a house our friends Redward, Thomas and Bertelmann will be ready to underbid each other for the sake of accommodating a stranger. Before building the house it may be as well to have proper deeds and contracts drawn and famous attorneys like Neumann, Peterson, C. W. Ashford, Croighton, V. V. Ashford, Rosa and Correa will always be willing to "make papers" for a fee, the size of which, though, can only be equalled by the charges of the only plumber John Phillips who on account of the hard times has been found ready to do all the plumbing fixing in a house at a very reasonable figure—compared with plumbing figures elsewhere. Phillip doesn't take advantage of his monopoly as the only plumber. When the house is ready and the deeds certified by Chas. T. Gulick the notary public it is proper for the new resident to call on H. Lose who will insure the house against fire and earthquakes (the latter don't get here,) and then the proprietor, if wise, will insure his life at C. O. Berger's office. After all this is done he may begin to furnish his house. First, though, he should surround his grounds with a neat fence and he is indeed fortunate if he at the Hawaiian Hardware Company's store can obtain an elegant iron fence similar to the one now placed around the premises of manager Hendry. A visit to Hoffschlaeger & Co's store will then be of advantage. Matting, rugs and many other necessities can be had there and as a speciality we recommend the pianos sold by that firm. We know something about pianos and we are ready to state that no other house imports instruments which can be compared to those sold by the old firm mentioned. Furniture is the next thing and of course Ordway & Porter are the right men to call on. If the purse is getting slim the I. X. L. will fill the bill and deliver second hand goods at a very reasonable figure. To make the house look cosy and really elegant for a small figure the stranger should pay a visit to the Dai Nippon where Japanese goods are to be found in abundance. The lotohan is not very much behind in a fine assortment and at Wing Wo Tai's store a man or a woman can be shopping for days. The cigars in the last named place are good enough to hold a man there for ever. The kitchen has then to be attended to. Of course the Hawaiian Hardware Co. has the largest and most complete stock in the town but the stores of Ho Yen Kee on Nuuanu Street No. 41 and Sing Youen Kee on Mauna kea street No. 222 can be visited with advantage. But a kitchen with tinware alone is hardly complete and the householder must therefore fill his larder with groceries from H. E. McIntyre or from H. May & Co. The delicacies at the first named place are simply famous and the other house furnishes you with some coffee—never mind try it. Chop suey and the juiciest sausages are always to be found at the City Meat Market and Joe Tinker will accommodate you by telling you every evening through telephone how his kidney, liver and tripe are. But man does not live alone on groceries and beef. Where bread and milk are to be procured we cannot tell but we know that the finest assortment of wine, beer and liquors can be promptly obtained either at Luce's, or Macfarlane's or at Fernandes & Gomes. If you buy your sherry at the first place, your champagne and your Anheuser beer at the second and your California wine at the third you won't get fooled. At Luce's you can also generally buy a white mouse or another boar. Before the stranger goes down town he must have a carriage. The Honolulu Carriage Manufactory under the care of W. W. Wright will build a suitable one and so will T. B. Murray if the "people's party" doesn't object. Both manufacturers will turn out first class work and always be ready to repair after a smash up. But who will be smashed up? When our friend will sit quiet in his carriage and only take a little Long Life Whiskey and an Oyster Cocktail from the Anchor Saloon and confine himself to one Buffalo Beer at the Pacific, and just stop long enough at the Patheon to taste a glass of Enterprise beer and run across one of the Criterion's famous gin cocktails, and look into the Empire for some of the nearly hundred year old Portwine or call at the Commercial for a small Lohengrin beer run into the Merchant's Exchange for a herring and a frozen absinthe and finish at the Bay Horse with the "Fat Boy's" finest how, we say under such circumstances can the stranger be smashed. He will be in perfect condition to take his wife into the store of B. F. Ehlers & Co. leave her shopping and flirting, and go himself to a tailor and order a fine suit. There are plenty ready to serve him. If he has no prejudices against Chinese, he can be served at very reasonable figures, and get a very good fit either by Kwong Sing Loy, next to the HOLOMUA office, Chock Lock, Nuuanu street, 48; C. T. Akana, Nuuanu street, 324; or Wing Sing Chan, Nuuanu street, 320. If he is anti-Asiatic Medeiros & Company near the Arlington will supply him in a minute. While his wife is still listening to Hugh Gunn's silver tongue at Ehlers' store hubby can take a run into the Mid Ocean Billiard parlor where Harry Juen will give him a few gratis lessons in handling the cue. When it is time to fetch his wife home, our friend should take her to a shoe store where supplies for both can be found. There are Gertz's store or Tai Wo Wing Kee Company's establishment or an inspection might be made of Kwong Sing Loy's fine stock. All sell as good and much cheaper than any of the high toned manufacturers' up town. After all these purchases have been made, we don't doubt that the citizen of this republic will have that tired feeling. We then advise him to call a boy from the messenger service at the Masonic Building; send him down to L. J. Levey and instruct that leading auctioneer to dispose of the house, the furniture and everything else, and then get money enough to go down to the O. S. S. office and take a few steerage tickets for the Golden Gate.

Another Outrage.

Last night, three young Hawaiians were returning from a fishing excursion. When they reached Smith Bridge, one of them who carried a bag containing the fishing lines and some fish was rudely halted by a foreign policeman, who shoved a pistol into his face and demanded that he "immediately drop that bag." The demand was complied with and the servant of the Marshal looked as big a fool as does his superior. In the future, the fishermen will go heeled and shoot anybody, be it police or highway-man who attempts to stop them.

A NEW PARTY.

They Are Breaking Up!

A correspondent writes to us from Hilo that there is trouble in the "republican" camp. A meeting of the p. g. supporters was called and the new republic and constitution were roundly abused. The citizens present at the meeting were all dead against the government, although they had sustained the p. g. against the monarchy. The new constitution was declared an outrage and the members from Hawaii to the convention were labelled "bought" and "numb-skulls." A new party was formed which will oppose the present oligarchy as well as a return to the monarchy. The principal speaker, though, held that the constitution of 1887 with Liliuokalani was preferable to the constitution of 1894 with Dole.

A COURT MARTIAL.

Honolulu People Not Surprised.

First Lieut. T. Glover Fillette, U. S. M. C., whose case has been the subject of much comment in naval circles and this city, where he is well known, has arrived in town and reported to the commandant at the navy yard for orders. He is to be court-martialed, and the case promises to be one of the most sensational in the recent history of the navy.

The first charge is, that having been directed by the secretary of the navy to discharge certain obligations of a pecuniary nature and to report in writing to the navy department from time to time the progress made in satisfying judgments against him, he failed to comply with such order.

The second charge relates to Lieut. Fillette's recent experiences while on duty at this navy yard. Acts of immorality, neglect of pecuniary obligations and other offenses prejudicial to good order and naval discipline are included.

The court will be composed of Capt. Albert Kautz pres, Commander James H. Sands, Lieut. Commander Henry N. Manney, Lieut. C. B. T. Moore, Lieut. G. F. W. Holman, U. S. N., Lieut. Col. McLane Tilton, Maj Robert W. Huntington, Capt. M. C. Goodrell, Capt. Samuel Mercer, U. S. M. C., members, and judge advocate. The court will convene at this navy yard Saturday.—Portsmouth.

Young Woods the boy ex-pitcher of the Crescent club, and who was lately shot and horsewhipped is still in the Hospital, the pistol ball being yet imbedded in his thigh.

Dust is plentiful again today and rude Boreas played havoc with the head-gear and furbelows of visitors to the departing Australia, when returning homewards by the Esplanade.

Capt. Whitney of the yacht Helene feels well pleased over the performance of his yacht, on the late run to Pearl River and back, the Helene beating the Hawaii, easily, both ways.

The police authorities know well the location of several prominent gambling dens patronized by white people and action definite, strong and immediate, should be taken to suppress them.

The steamer Australia left for San Francisco at a little past noon amid the strains of music from the band, a bombardment of flowers between departing passengers and the friends left behind, a flutter of handkerchiefs and many expressed good wishes from the large crowd gathered on the wharf.

At a meeting of the stockholders of W. G. Irwin & Co. held on the 19th inst., the following gentlemen were elected officers of the corporation for the ensuing year, viz: W. G. Irwin, president and manager; Col. Claus Spreckels, vice-president; Walter M. Gifford, secretary and treasurer; Theo. Q. Porter auditor. The reports showed a prosperous past year.

Hawaiian Hardware Comp'y.

The Advertiser who catches a persons eye usually wins a customer. Many different styles of advertising have been adopted and with more or less success, by the believers in the use of printers ink. The manufacturers of Pears Soap, for instance, occasion ally buy paintings that have been on exhibition in the Paris Salon and have lithographs made from them for the purpose of bringing their product before the people. In addition to such side issues, Pears spends hundreds thousands of dollars annually among the newspapers and magazines. Some years ago the Agents of certain article on sale in New York made a hit in advertising by having on Broadway during business hours two fatuously dressed Negroes wearing very high collars, on the backs of which was printed "Use Smiths Pills." The idea was novel and the public caught on. Rising Sun Stove Polish has been kept before the public for years through persistent, and sometimes expensive advertising. Twenty odd years ago the manufacturers of this polish started half a dozen men across the ornament to paint signs on rocks and fences. The Aemotor Co., of Chicago have increased its sales more than five hundred per cent in two years by the use of printers ink. We believe we have been instrumental in increasing the sales of the Aemotor by keeping everlastingly at it in Hawaii.

We do not wish to say that advertising will sell any manufactured article; there is no use spending money in advertising "cheap and nasty" goods because the people will not be hoodwinked. If Haviland China was not the superior article it is, all our advertising of it would not have sold the thousands of pieces that we have. We simply call the attention of the people to it and its superior quality is apparent to the customer directly a piece of it is examined.

Printers ink has helped the sale of the James Locked Fence but it would not have done so if it had been as flimsy as the ordinary wire fence. First, the economy there is in building it recommends it to the plantation manager and then its durability clinches the sale. If the stays and washers cost as much as an ordinary redwood post our sales of the material would not have reached such enormous proportions.

Our average sale of the Pansy Iron Stove is about two a day the year round. It was not the best iron stove on the market we would not sell that many in six months. Advertising is the tip to the public the good points in the article sells it just as the good qualities of the Fischer Steel Range make it a desirable article for people who wish to economise in the use of fuel.

We buy only what has proven good after people in the United States or Europe have given it a trial; we profit by their experience if the articles are good we buy and sell them; if they are poor we steer clear of them. When we advertise an article it is to attract attention to it; the newspaper is the button we push, the salesman does the rest.

Persistent advertising coupled with the article being a superior one has sold thousands of the Frank Walcott Emory File. If it had been no better than an ordinary scythe stone we probably would not have sold twenty. When a man finds out that his table knives may be kept sharp at all times at an expense of fifty cents and a very little elbow grease he is quite willing to try the experiment.
